CONNECTING TO WHAT MATTERS

September 2011 • COMMUNITY UPDATE • October 2011

2011 Street Improvement Project

Every 5 - 6 years the City replaces approximately 20 blocks of existing pavement to help maintain safe streets. The first step in the process is for City staff to identify possible street replacements. The core samples of those areas are taken and an engineer firm is hired to examine the streets and provide a recommendation to council for pavement replacement. Upon reviewing all of the data obtained, the engineering firm develops plans and/or specifications and conducts public information meetings with affected property owners. Bids are then solicited from contractors and reviewed before being awarded by City Council.

The City hired Snyder & Associates as the engineering firm for the 2011/2012 project and they have recommended a 22 block project area. Five to six blocks also include storm sewer design modifications. At this time public information meetings are slated for mid-October. The Engineers plan to solicit bids for the project sometime this winter and anticipate construction to begin in the spring of 2012 depending on weather.

At this point the City intends to assess 50% of costs to the affected property owners which is consistent with city policy. The budget for the project is $2.5 million.

The map provided shows the 2011 Street Improvement Project area. The streets designated in yellow are those affected.

If you have questions regarding the project or would like further information, please contact Community Development at 961-9430.

Green Halloween Tips: Tricks to Make Your Halloween a Treat for Mother Nature

By Larry West, About.com Guide

Green Halloween Tip 1: Trick or Treat with Reusable Bags

When the little ghosts and goblins in your family go trick-or-treating this Halloween, make sure they carry reusable bags or containers that don't need to be discarded after they are used. Cloth or canvas shopping bags make terrific eco-friendly alternatives to paper or plastic bags, or to the molded plastic jack-o-lanterns many kids use to collect candy at Halloween.

Green Halloween Tip 2: Make Do-It-Yourself Costumes

Instead of buying a Halloween costume that you or your children will wear once and throw away, make your own costumes from old clothes and other items you already have around the house. You can also get inexpensive Halloween costume materials from thrift stores or yard sales, or your children may have fun trading Halloween costumes with their friends to get something "new" and different to wear.

Green Halloween Tip 3: Give Eco-Friendly Treats

When the neighborhood ghouls show up at your door this Halloween, give them treats that also treat the environment gently. Choose treats that use little or no packaging that is produced using fossil fuels and cannot be recycled. Whenever possible, buy locally produced treats from local merchants. It supports your local economy, and also reduces fuel consumption and pollution associated with transporting products. Another option is to avoid candy altogether and to give Halloween trick-or-treaters useful treats, such as colorful pencils, small boxes of crayons, erasers in fun shapes, or other inexpensive items you can find at your local dime store or dollar store.

Green Halloween Tip 4: Walk Instead of Driving

Rather than drive to other neighborhoods to take the kids trick-or-treating, stick close to home this Halloween and walk from house to house to reduce fuel consumption and air pollution.

Green Halloween Tip 5: Make Your Halloween Party Eco-Friendly

Host a Halloween party that features organic, locally grown pumpkins for carving, apples for bobbing, and other pesticide-free, locally grown foods appropriate to the holiday and the harvest season. Organic produce is now widely available at many grocery stores as well as farmers' markets and stores specializing in organic food. Once the jack-o-lanterns have been carved and the games have ended, the apples and pumpkins can be used in pies, soups, or other dishes. You can also roast the pumpkin seeds and serve them to your guests as a special Halloween treat. Use recycled and recyclable materials to create your Halloween decorations. Bed sheets hung from the ceiling or tree branches make great ghosts, for example, and can be taken down, laundered, and returned to the linen closet when Halloween is over.

Green Halloween Tip 6: Reuse and Recycle

If you don't already compost, Halloween is a great time to start. You can add post-Halloween jack-o-lanterns to your compost bin, along with fallen leaves, food scraps, and other organic, biodegradable yard and household waste.

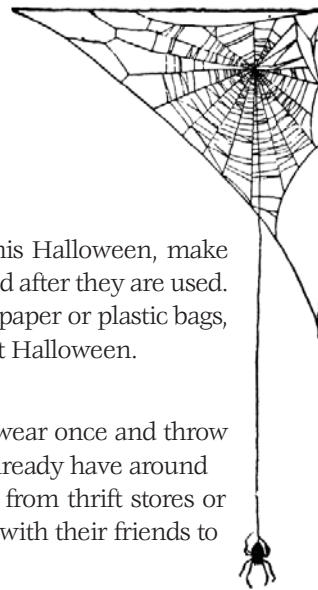

Green Halloween Tip 7: Keep Halloween Clean

Teach your children to keep candy wrappers in their reusable trick-or-treat bags until they return home, or to dispose of them in trash cans along their route.

Green Halloween Tip 8: Keep it Going

Living an eco-friendly lifestyle and reducing waste and pollution should be a daily event, not a special occasion. With a little thought, you can apply the strategies you use to have a green Halloween to the way you live every day. Use cloth vs paper napkins and washable vs disposable cutlery. Using reusable items instead of disposables will help the environment and also save you money. Composting is something you can do year-round. A compost bin will transform your organic yard and household waste into fertilizer for your flower and vegetable gardens, reduce the amount of garbage you send to the local landfill, and keep you more in tune with nature.

You get the idea. If you make living an eco-friendly lifestyle a daily commitment, both you and the environment will benefit.

IMU Customer Appreciation Lunch

Indianola Municipal Utilities Board Members and Employees would like to invite our customers to join us in a lunch of appreciation. The lunch is being held at the IMU line shop building, located at 110 South "B" Street, on Thursday, September 15th from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Members of IMU will be present to provide information on our sustainability efforts, fiber to the premise, proposed underground conversion areas, and water quality. There will be opportunity to discuss local economic development and sign up for online utility billing. IMU strives to exceed customer service standards with our local service, competitive rates, and reliability. Our customers have always supported IMU and we want to say thank you!

Public Power Week

Indianola Municipal Utilities will be celebrating the 25th Anniversary of Public Power Week October 2nd-8th. This annual event is sponsored in conjunction with the American Public Power Association, which is the national service organization for more than 2,000 electric utilities that provide electricity on a not-for-profit basis.

Public power means community ownership and customer accountability, which result in reliable, affordable electricity for Indianola residents and businesses. Community ownership also means that decisions affecting the utility are made locally and valuable resources are used in ways that best suit the needs of the Indianola community. The economic, social, and environmental contributions of a community-owned power system are vital assets and cannot be overstated.

We are here to serve our customers. Whether you need a tree limb trimmed from your service line or an energy analysis of your home or business, our mission is to provide essential, high-quality, and cost-effective services that give opportunities for residents to pursue the highest possible quality of life.

Notice of Electric Rate Increase

The IMU Board of Trustees will be considering the last of the electric rate increases that stem from the 2008 rate study, to become effective on the November 1, 2011 utility bills. These rates produce the necessary revenue for the remainder of FY 2012 and first half of FY 2013. Indianola's wholesale power provider is projecting an 8-9% rate increase due to bringing the latest generation plant online this year. IMU's local challenges are funding this expense, Landfill Gas credits, PILOT, increased debt service coverage ratio requirements, 2-month expense reserves and a small increase in O&M.

Also, the summer pricing mechanism gradually implemented over the past 4 years now properly matches summertime costs and revenue. Another formal study will be done in 2012 for the period covering FY 2013 - 2017 to ensure proper rates between customer classifications (residential, commercial, etc.).

Residents can keep informed of this process by accessing the IMU web site's Public Information page at www.i-m-u.com. Boards of Trustee meetings are also open to the public and are held every 2nd and 4th Monday of each month at 5:30 p.m. Please check the web site for meeting location.
